

If a young person with cancer inspired you, could you inspire others?

Inspiring the world to believe in your dream is not a simple task. Yet, Doctors Daniel W. Fort and Robert F. Harman persisted in their belief that Karen Jargowsky's personal battle against cancer would not be ignored. Today, The Karen Jargowsky Fund is still growing, and now funds an endowed chair in pediatric oncology, as well as funding individual research.

CACF is honored to work with Doctors Fort and Harman and the other physicians at U.Va. in making their vision a reality and helping the very worthy cause of finding better treatment, or even a cure, for pediatric cancer.

There's no end to what we can do together.
